b. 1957, Accra, Ghana Lives and works in Bath and London, UK

Arthur Timothy is a fine artist based between Bath and London, England. His figurative oil paintings explore narratives that are often drawn from his immediate family's life, history and recollections of his childhood in Ghana, Sierra Leone and the United Kingdom. The artworks present complex images that are underpinned by memory, both personal and political. Recent work also explores historical narratives relating to post-colonialism and Black life in Europe.

His paintings were first exhibited at the Royal Academy of Arts (London) and subsequently at Ronchini Gallery (London), Pippy Houldsworth Gallery (online), Gallery 1957 (in Accra and in London) and at international art fairs including a solo booth at the Armory, New York, USA. His work has been acquired by international collections including the permanent collections of The Philadelphia Museum of Art, The ICA Miami, The Tia Collection, Santa Fe and The Dean Collection in Los Angeles, as well as other notable private collections. His architectural drawings are retained in the V&A + RIBA Drawings Collection, UK.

Arthur was born in Accra, Ghana and spent his early childhood in Freetown, Sierra Leone. He attended Queen's College in Taunton, England before studying Architecture at The University of Sheffield and establishing his architectural practice, Timothy Associates, in 1986. After decades of practicing as a RIBA chartered architect, Arthur embarked on his career as a painter in 2018.
